

1. Business name and Ofsted number: Little Willows Day Nursery (Bath) – EY413022
2. Who is your named Special Educational Needs and Disability contact? Jessica Jardine & Laura Rogers– SENDCo
3. Provide a short paragraph about your ethos/mission statement for including children and young people with Special Educational Need and Disability (SEND). How do you aim to meet the unique needs of the child?
Little Willows prides itself on having a strong partnership with parents and families. We work with and alongside families to ensure the best possible for each individual child, coming up with strategies together to meet the child’s best interests. We are an inclusive and accessible nursery, set on one level and offering free flow, and enthusiastic, caring staff.
4. How do you identify that a child is not meeting appropriate age related milestones and what do you do in this case? How do you find out what matters to the child and their family?
We constantly observe children, taking snapshots of their development and playing with them. If there is anything we are concerned about, the SENDCo will be alerted and further observation will take place, and this will be monitored, with maximum input from parents and carers. When some evidence has been collected, we will have a meeting with the family to discuss next steps and options, and discuss what would be best for the child and the family, whether this to be target-setting within the setting, or seeking assistance from other professionals.
5. How do you promote positive relationships and ensure good, ongoing communication with families? How will families know what progress their children are making, how to access additional support and what they can do at home to help?
All parents receive a verbal handover, about what their child has been up to, and any other important information, for example, what they have eaten/how they have slept, that day. Parents and carers are welcome to request a communication book, in which information received at verbal handover is written down. The children all have a Tapestry account for their learning Journals. All parents have direct access to their child’s account and can log in anytime to see their children’s journals & as well as comment on, like and add their own observations/ pictures/videos.
6. How will you communicate with other providers who care for a child, or with providers who will be caring for the child? How do you support children to experience a smooth transition to school or a different situation?
We often use communication books if the child attends two or more settings, and will often talk on the phone and via email. We will do everything to ensure transitions are smooth, including settling in sessions with key-person, and if to another setting/school, start the transition process months in advance, organizing meetings and sessions together. These can include TAF or TAC (Team around the family or Team around the Child) meetings.

7. How do you provide an enabling environment for all the children in your care? Are there quiet areas and fully accessible spaces? What other adjustments can you make? What about the physical environment in and outside your setting?

In every room there is a quiet/cosy area for children to retreat to. Our setting is fully accessible, and is all on one level. We have a disabled toilet and ramps where needed. The outside area is also fully accessible, with large open spaces for children to explore and also smaller, cosier areas with trees and climbing frames. Most rooms offer constant free-flow where possible, so children are able to choose their own preference.

8. What qualities, skills and experience do you (and your staff) have to support a child's unique needs?

Little Willows have dedicated, enthusiastic and caring staff. Jess & Laura, between them have lots of SEN experience, experience of working alongside other professionals and supporting children and families. Our first priority is the child and their family.

This is an opportunity to signpost parents to services that can support them, for example the Parent Partnership Service
